Press release:

Radio Art Zone – more than 60,000 listeners already

One month after the start of the world's largest radio art festival Radio Art Zone can already report more than 60,000 listeners for its FM and online broadcasts as well as partner radio stations across the globe.

“Every day a steadily growing number of curious minds from across all continents tune in and are served a new sonic artwork via Radio Art Zone” explains artistic co-director Knut Aufermann.

After short term visits by artists from France, Sweden, Czech Republic, The Netherlands, Germany, the USA and Brazil, Radio Art Zone can now announce the arrival of its first long term resident, the German musician, instrument builder and sound artist Erwin Stache. Besides preparing for a 22 hour long radio show, he will exhibit five of his interactive sound objects at the Bridderhaus first floor gallery.

The Radio Art Zone schedule of 22 hour long radio shows by an array of artists, augmented by a two-hour “À table!” broadcast from local kitchens, continues until the 25th September. Photos from the locations of the on air cooking shows can be found in the archive at <https://radioart.zone/archive>
